Methodology for Developing the Cultural Competency Resource Kit of Expert Individuals and Organizations:

The Maryland DHMH/MHHD maintains a directory of health equity experts, including researchers, evaluators, providers of training and technical assistance, and experts in cultural and linguistic competence and health literacy. These experts have experience at the local, state, and national levels. With the assistance of many of these experts, the MHHD Office recently published the Cultural Competency Primer, which identifies tools to improve cross-cultural communications skills, deliver culturally and linguistically appropriate healthcare services to diverse populations, and develop programs and policies to improve health outcomes and reduce health disparities.

For the Resource Kit, MHHD staff identified individuals and organizations with expertise in health equity and cultural competency. The individuals and organizations considered for the Cultural Competency Resource Kit were sent a brief survey in which they were asked to identify specific areas of expertise. They were also asked to authorize their information to be listed on the MHHD Cultural Competency Website.

Disclaimer: This list of cultural competency, language Services and health literacy resources is intended to provide guidance to Maryland Health Providers who seek to improve the cultural competency of their facilities and programs. These resources are external to DHMH and, although they have been reviewed and determined sufficiently experienced in their fields, their inclusion on this list is not an endorsement of their services by DHMH. We welcome feedback on your experience so that we can continue to build the quality of this service.

Web-based course addresses the following learning objectives:

- Explain the role of spirituality and religion in the Latino population;
- Describe strategies for working with spiritual or religious clients; and,
- Express the importance of self-assessment of the learners' own beliefs and biases in order to effectively counsel members of Latino or other populations.

Continuing education credit is available. Cost is $5.

American Medical Association. Working Together to End Racial and Ethnic Disparities: One Physician at a Time Kit. Available at:

http://www.amaassn.org/ama1/pub/upload/mm/433/health_disp_kit.pdf

Training kit is designed for health professionals and their office staff to address the following topics:

- Why health disparities occur and what can be done to address them;
- How to establish effective interpersonal and working relationships that acknowledge cultural differences;
- Ways to challenge one's knowledge and assumptions about how one delivers care; and,
- The connection between quality of care and health care disparities.

The kit includes a discussion facilitation guide; a 22-minute DVD of health care professionals' and patients' firsthand experiences with health disparities; and a CD-ROM with supplemental training material on quality of care, trust and stereotyping, cultural competence, language barriers, and health literacy. Cost is $15 for non-AMA members.

Examples of Training Videos

Kaiser Permanente/California Endowment Multicultural Health Series. This collection of 10 video (and DVD) case studies and training materials was designed for health care professionals who work with ethnically and culturally diverse populations. The curriculum is meant to educate providers about the meaning and importance of cultural competence in health care. Each video case study is accompanied by facilitator notes and participant handouts. A background section provides an information context for the situations portrayed in the video.
